

Thursday 5th July 2007

A year in the life of an English Flower Meadow

Evening talk 7.00pm (doors 6.30pm)

Tickets: £10

To coincide with the launch of their book "A year in the Life of an English Meadow" published by Frances Lincoln, Andy Garnett and Polly Devlin will tell the story of the meadow they nurtured in their garden in Somerset. They will be joined by Chris Smith, the botanist who identified the rare species and the evening will be chaired by the writer Tania Compton. There will be a chance to view the album of wild flower pressings featured in the book and Polly and Andy will also bring 25 vases of fresh flowers from the meadow.

To book tickets please contact the Museum of Garden History by:

TEL (020) 74018865

EMAIL info@museumgardenhistory.org

Museum of Garden History
Lambeth Palace Road
London
SE1 7LB

Buses To Lambeth Road C10, 3 & 344

To Lambeth Palace Road 77 & 507

Underground Lambeth North, Westminster or Waterloo

Diary of an English meadow

POLLY DEVLIN and Andy Garnett will talk about their Somerset meadow in 'A Year in the Life of an English Meadow' at the Museum of Garden History (www.museumgardenhistory.org) on July 5. Dr Chris Smith, who identified the rare species that appear in the meadow, joins them, with Tania Compton in the chair. The museum's floor will be covered with 25 vases of fresh flowers from the meadow, and an album of pressed flowers will show those from other seasons. The evening is also the launch of their book of the same title, published by Frances Lincoln (see review, page 166).